I. O. U's Don't Pay Bills

Last week's proposal by Senator Russell of Georgia that the British Empire become part of the United States brought forth laughter in the United States and in England an indignant rejoinder that no such step was necessary to shore up British economy.

Actually, in some future year the senator's proposal may not seem so ridiculous after all. It is nothing new with the "Union Now" and "One World" advocates. But that day isn't here yet.

Among the indignant rejoinders from England was that of the London Times which reminded the senator that the Southern states still owe Great Britain $244,000,000 advanced during the Civil War. If the Southerners would ante up, the Times said, England's financial troubles would be eased.

England's Confederate adventure was just one of many instances when her foreign undertakings came to a bad end. She is like a poker player with a pocket full of worthless I. O. U's. If all the uncollectible debts she has in the far corners of the world could be liquidated, she would be on Easy Street today.

The Sparring Begins

Some writers refer to the conference presently going in Moscow as "negotiations," but based on Russia's past performance they will not be that. In negotiations you give a little take a little; make concessions on some points, hold out for and receive concessions on others. So far, with Russia at the conference table, you either yield or you don't yield, period.

The present Moscow conversations have not gone far enough to give any firm indication of whether there has been any change in the Soviet line. Molotov's smile seems just as beatific as ever, and the news and radio correspondents—those who were lucky enough to get in—find they are not having censor trouble.

Ostensibly the prime item on the agenda was the character of the Germany that is to emerge in post-war Europe. Instead, Molotov's opening gambit brought up the enormously complicated question of China. Indications are that General Marshall will not allow the China issue to be discussed unless Chinese representatives are called to the conference.

Russia may have a sincere desire to settle the China difficulties, or it could be bringing them up as an obfuscatory tactic. There's a good chance that it is the latter, for Molotov on his past performances has won the medal of Obruator First Class with Oak Leaf Cluster.

How An Idea Grew

The death last week in England of Sir Halford John MacKinder went generally unnoticed by the world at large, but the ideas of this scholarly man indirectly have played an important role in the history of the last two decades.

When Sir Halford looked at a globe, he envisioned the world in a manner different from most men. As the father of modern geographical study, he saw the Russia-Siberian plain as the world's "heartland." To him the seas were secondary; who controlled the great land masses need not worry about who controlled the seas.

Drawing on Sir Halford's theories and making elaborate emendations of his own, Dr. Karl Haushofer, a German militarist turned geographer, evolved the geopolitical theories which the Nazis used in their plan for world conquest. "Festung Europa" was the idea of Haushofer, upon whom Hitler relied heavily for advice and made a lieutenant general on the general staff.

So it was that Sir Halford's ideas, unspectacular as they may have seemed at first glance, provided a pattern for conquest when they came into the hands of the Nazis.

Sweet Pickings

News from the maple syrup country is that this year's supply will sell at $5 a gallon, with farmers unable to meet a fraction of the demand. In a good season, as it appears this one will be, a grove of 1,600 trees will yield 600 gallons of syrup.

A stand of sugar-producing trees is called a sugar bush. With syrup at $5 a gallon, it might better be called a heavy-sugar bush.

How To Move Those Spuds

Congressmen are worried about the nation's huge surplus of potatoes. Recently the House and Senate dining room menus included potato bread, potato cake and potato chips, the latter furnished by the National Potato Chip Institute, which chipped in to help finance the meal.

Use of potato flour in bread and other bakery products is one of the proposals recommended, but it isn't the cook and the pastry chef who can do the best job of devising ways to move the potato surplus. What's needed are scientists well grounded in organic chemistry.

Remember what happened when George Washington Carver devoted his attention to the peanut, which, like the potato, is made up mostly of hydrocarbons? He found half a hundred new uses for it.

Turn a good organic chemist loose on the potato and there'd be potato bath mats, potato perfume, potato lubricants and a potato plastic called spudkon—acid-resistant, crackproof, stainproof and suitable for frying in strips with bacon to add variety to the breakfast menu.

For Friday, March 14
BY GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A SUDDEN and drastic event may have critical and far-reaching influence upon the affairs, current and of long-term consequence.

It may be difficult to organize the affairs under this unpredictable visitation, in which conventional and routine programs seem ineffective.

Erratic, turbulent or emotional conduct may aggravate a dubious condition and offend those who might be disposed to render assistance by a dilemma. Maintain poise, balance and clear thinking.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of sudden and disturbing events, in which there may be a deep-seated spading up or breaking away from old contacts and ties as well as interests, both business and of a romantic or personal nature.

Such devastating force may alienate those disposed to be helpful in a crisis, should the emotional or mental impulses tend to the unconventional or erratic. Firm control of temperament, impulses and ideas, with calm front and controlled action, might assuage any sort of dire calamity or regrettable estrangements.

A child born on this day may have strange, unconventional impulses, with radical ideas and emotions. A capacity for running headlong into danger may alienate those disposed to be of service.

Senate Committee Drops Bingo Bill

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, March 13—The senate judiciary committee had buried the controversial bingo bill today.

The bill to outlaw the game of bingo as gambling was spiked when the committee voted 7 to 2 yesterday for indefinite postponement, which liberally interpreted means the measure is a "dead duck."

The proposal was offered by Sen. George G. Shurtz (R-Coshocton). Cliff Martin, senate sergeant-at-arms, hung out the "standing room only" sign before half the orderly crowd he estimated at more than 500 had arrived.

After about two hours of speech-making by both friends and foes of the bill, Committee Chairman Fred G. Reiners (R-Hamilton) moved for indefinite postponement and received negative votes only from Sens. Virgil E. Walcutt (R-Lucas) and Roscoe R. Wraight (R-Franklin).

Supporting the motion besides Reiners were Sens. Fred R. Seibert (R-Auglaize), George C. McCandless (R-Butler), Kyle F. Brooks (R-Hamilton), Allen N. Corlett (R-Cuyahoga), William Tyrrell (R-Preble) and Margaret A. Mahoney (D-Cuyahoga).

Absent and not voting were Sens. Carl D. Sheppard (R-Summit) and Robert L. Quinn (R-Jefferson).

The defeat was the second in two years for bingo legislation.

Charge Three Teen-Age Youths With $1,000 Theft

CLEVELAND, March 13—Three teen-age youths, who police said spent the $1,000 life savings of a 74-year-old man in six weeks, were held today in connection with theft of the money.

The sum was taken from Ernest Glaser, who kept it in a metal tool box in his room.

Police said a 15-year-old girl confessed stealing the money and spending it on two Akron youths, one 15 and the other 16, for movies, meals, refreshments and transportation, they said.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH
When An Infant Has Eczema

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

NOT only babies afflicted with eczema but their mothers, also, are to be pitied.

Few things can cause a child more misery and the mother more worry than this stubborn skin disorder. It is accompanied by a red, scaly rash which itches severely and keeps the youngster in a constant state of irritation.

Baby cries, whimpers, and scratches, and the mother is at her wits' end to know what to do, since scratching, which can hardly be prevented, only makes bad matters worse, causing infection as well as further irritation.

Due to Allergy

It is thought that eczema is due to oversensitivity or allergy. However, attempts to find the foods to which the child is sensitive often are unsuccessful, and hence treatment by diet alone often fails. Furthermore, dietary restrictions often result in poor nutrition in the baby.

Dr. Lemuel P. Ereaux and Gibson E. Craig of Montreal have treated 12 cases of eczema in babies with a preparation known as anthallan. Just exactly how this preparation acts has not been determined. It has some slight effect in overcoming the action of a substance known as histamine which is formed in excessive quantities in the body in patients who suffer from allergy.

The drug is given by mouth. It is taken after meals and because it dissolves poorly in water, it is given in some food such as apple sauce or honey. The treatment must be carried out for a number of weeks before effects are noted.

Lessen Itching

It was found that the treatment with anthallan, while slow in clearing up the skin rash, did lessen the itching, and thus help in avoiding the dangers of infection. It is therefore suggested that when this treatment is used, it be combined with local treatment of the skin rash, using such things as tar ointment or X-ray.

While the infants were receiving these preparations, nine of the mothers reported a great deal of reduction in itching and also stated that the children were sleeping better and eating better and also showing much less irritability.

Twelve children with what is known as atopic eczema, a skin inflammation due to an hereditary hypersensitivity, also were treated with the anthallan.

These cases also showed a great deal of reduction in itching, together with improvement in sleeping and eating.

The preparation, then, while it does not cure the skin rash of eczema appears to be valuable in relieving the symptoms, and, together with local treatment of the skin, helps in producing a cure. Of course, the treatment must always be carried out under the direction of a physician.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

Mixed Congressional Reaction To President's Plea Is Noted

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 13—Congress reacted to President Truman's speech today with both praise and criticism, mixed with talk of fateful consequences. Some members said they see danger of war with Russia.

Rep. Eaton (R-N.J.) chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, said: "We are now faced with the necessity of choosing—and accepting the responsibilities that go with that choice—between slavery and freedom as the foundation of the new world civilization."

Eaton said "I certainly am going to support" the loan proposal, but he predicted "the most violent opposition."

Stay Deportation Of Russian Girl

(By Associated Press)
Washington, March 13—A house judiciary subcommittee directed the attorney general today to stay deportation of Eredia Sinitskaya, 26-year-old Russian girl held in San Francisco after entering this country last December as a "GI fiancée."

Miss Sinitskaya, who has a temporary visitor's visa, was to be deported Friday.

The subcommittee asked the suspension so it could consider further a bill by Rep. Havenner (D-Calif.) to legalize Miss Sinitskaya's entry and permit her to apply for naturalization.

Havenner told the subcommittee today Miss Sinitskaya arrived in San Francisco from Shanghai on Dec. 14, 1946, to marry Harry Leroy Donaldson, of Cameron, Mo., a discharged soldier she met in Shanghai.

"This girl had a copy of Donaldson's army discharge, and his statement that they intended to marry," Havenner said. "That was how she got her visa in the first place. Then when she got to this country she found out he had remarried the wife he had divorced some time before."

BOMBSIGHT PIONEER AVOIDS SPOTLIGHT

DURANGO, Col.—The inventor of the radar bombsight came home to Durango and shyly denied that he had anything to do with the device. He is Capt. William M. Hartness, the man whom Brig. Gen. Ted Timberlake, commanding officer of the 20th Bombardment Wing, credited with "shortening the war in Europe by six months."

But Hartness returned to Durango determined that the home folk wouldn't know anything about the radar bombsight.

He had been notified that a story about him was on the way to the local newspaper, so on the day of his arrival, Hartness entered the newspaper office and asked: "Would you please kill the story?"

He explained that his invention was "nothing." It's just an attachment to the Norden bombsight, he said.

Couple Found Dead In Auto; Ruled Accidental

JEFFERSON, Ind., March 13—The bodies of an Ohio couple who had come to Indiana to visit a relative were found in their car parked on a road north of here early today and Coroner Edwin Coats said they were the victims of accidental monoxide poisoning.

He identified the victims as Olney J. O'Malley, 28, Route 1, Franklin, O., and O'Malley's wife, Gladys, 24.

The bodies were found by D. T. Graves, a farmer of near Marysville. Graves told the coroner he noticed the O'Malleys car parked in front of his home when he arose this morning and when it failed to move for some time he investigated.

The coroner said he was informed the O'Malleys had come to Indiana to visit an aunt, Mrs. Marie Hostettler, who lives near Marysville, and had made inquiry in the night as to how they could reach her home. The coroner said they apparently decided to remain in the car until day break.

★ WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT

She wouldn't be seen in the clothes she wore 10 years ago. She can't wait to try out new decorating ideas on her home. Her hair styles change with the dictates of fashion.

But it has been years since she has consciously done anything to brighten up the pattern of her marriage—which by now is pretty dull and drab.

And there are thousands of women like her. They create a pattern for living in the first few years of married life and never bother to change or improve upon it.

They know the right touches of color can brighten up a living room. But they don't see that the right touches can keep a marriage from growing dull and commonplace. It, too, has to be brightened up occasionally with a new shared interest perhaps, or with new and stimulating friends, or with the setting of some goal toward which both husband and wife can work.

A marriage has to be kept "up to date," too. Five years ago when her children were little and her husband's income small, the marriage was pretty much set to one pattern from necessity.

WHEN OPPORTUNITY ARISES

But a husband's advancement in his work and a wife's release from the constant care of children offers an opportunity for changing the pattern. This is the time for more and varied companionship, for wider interests, and for more ambitious planning.

If women were as determined to keep dullness out of their marriages as they are to keep it out of their homes and wardrobes, they could manage it. But so many of them don't even try.

Marquis James tells of "ONE OF METROPOLITAN'S GREATEST YEARS—1946"

IN LINE with its long-established "Open Book" policy, Metropolitan recently asked Marquis James, noted historian and a Metropolitan policyholder, to write the Company's Annual Report to Policyholders for 1946.

Mr. James was unusually well equipped to do this because he had just finished, at the request of the Company, a three-year study of Metropolitan's operations from the time it was founded. The results of this study have been published by the Viking Press under the title of "The Metropolitan Life, A Study in Business Growth," on sale at any bookstore.

In Mr. James' report of the Company's operations for 1946, he tells a story of continued progress in service to policyholders.

He points out—

—that payments to policyholders and their beneficiaries last year exceeded $630,000,000.

—that 2,400,000 people bought new Metropolitan policies in 1946.

—that the amount of new insurance purchased in 1946 topped anything in Metropolitan's 79 years in business.

—that the gain in insurance in force set a new high record.

—that the Company had one of the lowest death rates in its history.

—that, despite a trend toward increased costs caused primarily by a continued decline in interest rates earned, the Company has found it possible to continue dividends on Ordinary and Industrial policies during the coming year at the same rates as during 1946.

Mr. James' report is much more than a compilation of statistics. Among other things, he discusses the social value of Metropolitan's investments. For example, he characterizes Metropolitan's housing program as a——"vivid demonstration of how private enterprise works for the public good."

Whether or not you are a Metropolitan policyholder, you will find the Annual Report to Policyholders well worth reading. To get your free copy, just fill in and mail the coupon below.

Sale Of Taylorcraft Items Is Given O.K.

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, March 13—Sale of $400,000 worth of items at the debt-ridden Taylorcraft Aviation Corp. of Alliance, was approved today by Carl D. Friebolin, federal court bankruptcy referee.
Friebolin said sale of buildings and land, exclusive of contents, accounts receivable, good will, patterns, books and jigs would be delayed in an effort to secure higher bids.
Bids of some $500,000 had been received for the items not yet disposed of, he said.
Other assets of the company were sold piecemeal to more than 200 companies and individuals. Successful bidders listed by Friebolin and the amount of their purchases included:
Leo Omelian, Erie, Pa., $50,000; Givan and Co., Los Angeles, $30,000; Cuyahoga Steel Co., Cleveland, $50,000; Oberlin Co., Oberlin, $40,000; and Wilkoss and Co., Canton, approximately $55,000.
Bids were placed last week in Alliance and Friebolin determined whether the concern was to be sold in bulk or piecemeal.

Snyder Says U. S. Taxes Exceed All Expectations

WASHINGTON, March 13—Treasury Secretary Snyder said today government tax collections are exceeding expectations and expressed hope of a balanced budget for the current fiscal year.
Snyder also told a news conference:
1. He opposes any "broad cuts"—that is, general cuts—in taxes at this time. He maintains the government can not yet afford to reduce revenues. The house ways and means committee starts hearing tomorrow on legislation to slash levies 20 percent.
2. He favors reducing the rate of interest paid by the government on tax refunds from six percent to three, although he believes the six percent interest charged delinquent taxpayers should be maintained.
3. The internal revenue bureau is setting a new record for speed in paying refunds to individuals on 1946 income tax returns. It has refunded, he said, $304,080,000 to 608,000 persons—an average of more than $40 each.

Mystery of the Rocking Chair

Ma Hoskins has a favorite rocking chair that's worn and shabby, with a noisy creak. Pa Hoskins has listened to that squeak for thirty years ... and he decided to do something about it. So he bought a new rocker, and hid the other in the barn.

Ma allowed as how grateful she was ... but when Pa missed her one afternoon, he heard a familiar sound that led him to the barn. There was Ma rocking happily in her old chair—squeak ... squeak. No need to tell you how Pa felt.

Quick as a wink he hid the new rocker and then brought Ma's old chair back to the house. Now when he hears that squeak, he looks at the mellow glass of beer he's drinking and says to himself: "She's just as entitled to her small pleasures as I am."

From where I sit, that's one of the reasons the Hoskinses are the happiest, oldest-married, peace-fulest folks in our town.

OPA To Definitely End By Next June 30

WASHINGTON, March 13—The senate completed congressional action today upon legislation directing OPA to get out of business by June 30 next.

By a voice vote the senate approved the senate-house conference report on a deficiency appropriation carrying $179,645,668 and a rider directing OPA to liquidate.

The measure now goes to President Truman.

OPA, which still is directing rent controls and rationing and pricing of sugar and rice, was given slightly more than $14,000,000 to operate between now and July 1, pay off its employees and close up all its business.

The order putting OPA out of business also would apply to the Civilian Production Administration, the Office of War Mobilization and for reversion and the Office of Temporary Controls.

Utah Faces Death For Killing Of Ohio Sailor

COALVILLE, Utah, March 13—Eliseo J. Mares, Jr., 19-year-old son of a former Antonito, Colo., sheriff, faced either hanging or death by a firing squad today, following his conviction of first de-

A jury last night deliberated four hours before returning its verdict, which carried no mercy recommendation. Mares was charged with the slaying of Jack D. Stallings, Corning, O., sailor, whose body was found in an irrigation ditch near here last fall.

Mares told the court that he shot Stallings while they were riding in the sailor's car in northern Utah because he thought the Ohioan meant to kill him. Stallings was enroute to San Jose, Calif., to be married.

The assignment calls for the production of 169,000 additional copies of the Stars and Stripes to be used to drape the caskets of fallen World War II heroes.

Each flag is five feet wide and nine feet, five inches long. The stars and stripes are sewn individually.

The internment flags, made of high-grade mercerized cotton, duplicate in size the regulation U. S. term flag which floats over American military posts, camps and stations; government buildings and American embassies throughout the world.

There are about 200 pounds of steel in the average household washing machine.

The fight against daylight saving was conducted again by Cleveland Federation of Labor leaders. City recreational workers favored the 'fast' time.

New State Liquor Scandal in Ohio Fermenting The Hopes of the Drys

Drastic Changes In Control Seen As Result of Investigation

BY FOREST ALLEN

CLEVELAND—Ohio birthplace of the Anti-Saloon League, is once more in the throes of a liquor scandal.

And hundreds of Ohio drys see in it a ready-made wedge for a new drive for nation-wide prohibition.

A three-pronged investigation has been launched after persistent probing by The Cleveland Press. It appears destined to result in drastic alterations of the present form of Ohio's monopoly control of liquor.

SECOND IN VOLUME

Second in volume among the 17 monopoly states, Ohio for years has been a bellwether for the nation in matters of legislating man's right to a legal swig of liquor. Large distillers, as well as organized drys, are keeping a sharp eye on current developments.

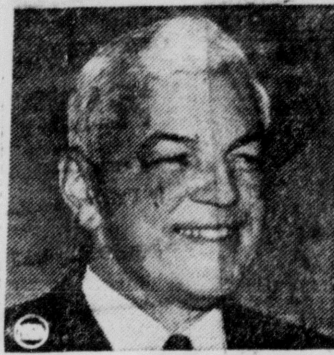

For approximately 13 years, the state government here has been in the business of buying and selling alcoholic beverages, wholesale and retail. It also controls permits to sell liquor by the drink as well as by the bottle.

The business altogether amounts to about $150,000,000 gross a year, netting between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 profit annually.

The present scandals began fermenting in 1943, when all bar and nightclub permits to sell liquor by the drink were "frozen." This skyrocketed the blackmarket value of such permits and increased the temptation to find means for thawing the "freeze."

It was the great rush of liquor permits to so-called private clubs—which have proved to be one-man commercial ventures—that started The Cleveland Press on its probe. It sent reporters searching in the records of the last weeks of the administration of former Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Democratic victim of the Republican tide which put Gov. Thomas Herbert into office this year.

The revelations this investigation turned up inspired Gov. Herbert to order a statewide investigation of the spurious clubs by his attorney general. About the same time the State Senate—with but one dissenting vote—set up a special investigating committee of its own to look into all phases of the state's monopoly.

So far, these two inquiries have disclosed:

That nearly all the "private clubs" granted permits in December and January were "phonies," with faked minutes and no membership. Some had named as officers men who had been dead for years.

That at large profits to favored sales agents, the state had become saddled with large inventories of cordials and other slow-selling items.

That state enforcement of policing of the liquor business has been ridden with politics in Democratic as well as Republican administrations.

Latest of the charges tossed into the scandal were those of a former Cleveland state enforcement chief. Among other things, he revealed that he was led to a rendezvous with a slot machine man by a Federal employee where a $1000-a-week bribe offer was made.

FEDERAL PROBE, TOO

As a result of these allegations, the Federal government has moved into the Ohio situation from two directions—a check-up on its personnel and an inquiry into income tax returns of principals whose names have been put into the record.

Gov. Herbert has found the liquor mess the hottest potato thus far in his administration.

Democrats are determined that any investigation of the Lausche administration of liquor control will not halt there.

They declare they will force the probe back into the administration of former Gov. John W. Bricker, Ohio's junior Senator. They contend they will find things which will equal the odors now arising from current testimony.

During all the headlines and sizzling allegations, the organized drys have been quiet. The liquor interests consider the silence ominous.

The drys are supporting a measure which would take the liquor business away from the state and put it into private hands.

They have made very substantial advances in local option elections in Ohio during the past 10 years, and feel the present scandals will soon ripen Ohio for a statewide test.

"We have organization and patience," said one at a Cleveland hearing the other day. "We dried the country up county by county before. These investigations are producing information we couldn't buy for any price."

MP RAILWAY GUARDS BATTLE GERMAN LOOTERS IN HAZARDOUS NIGHT WAR

By RICHARD O'REGAN
MANNHEIM, Germany, March 12
A speeding German locomotive nearly killed Tom Gorman a few days ago. Only the day before, a German dagger narrowly missed his heart.

"It's just like war," the wiry little lieutenant smiled, "only you've got to shoot like you like them. You can't go shooting down the Germans any more."

Two years ago, Gorman was a street truck driver in Atlantic City. Now he's "Herr Lieutenant" to 300 German railroad workers in Mannheim's smoky five miles of freight yards.

There are some who say that America's occupation soldiers in Germany have it plenty soft, but Lt. Tom Gorman, his boss, Capt. Marshall J. Smith and their little group of railway security police find anything but easy.

They protect the army's supplies from gangs of looters who try to raid the 3,500 freight cars a day which ship food, clothes and equipment from Mannheim to every corner of the U. S. zone.

The colonel wants to transfer Gorman, said Smith, a combat veteran from Alliance, Ohio. "Too many Germans have threatened to get him. He's shot some of them and they don't like him interfering with their operations."

Expensive Operations
These "operations" cost the Army $10,000 a month in thefts throughout the zone.

Practically every night, when the coal-laden locomotive smoke clings low to the rails and the yards are dark, thieves slip over the guarded miles of surrounding fences. They work in cahoots with the engineers, with the trackmen and the signalmen.

Stalking the looters in the night, a thin beam of light strikes through the darkness, exposing Smith or Gorman in a danger-filled pool of light that follows him from track to track. Or a series of soft coded whistles race from unseen lips up and down the yards warning of the American's approach. Or a locomotive comes pounding down the tracks behind him.

It was one of these mysterious, unscheduled runs that nearly closed

Gorman's keen blue eyes for good. The night before Gorman had surprised a gang of 12 men after lying for three hours on the snow-covered ties beneath a carload of army food.

Some fled, but others turned on the lean, five-foot-nine officer. He killed one and wounded another with his .45 but a knife slid too close for comfort by his side.

Always a Mystery
"You go up to the control towers," Gorman said, and you ask 'who turned that damn light on me' or 'who sent that locomotive down that track' and they just shrug their shoulders. What can you do if you don't have any proof it was deliberate. Besides—our job is to protect the freight and the Germans have sole control of the yards."

That's a problem for Smith's "D" company of the 385th military Police Service battalion. The men can't interfere if they see a German locomotive tugging suspicious looking freight car out of the yards. An entire freight train of 16 cars vanished recently and the cars later turned up at scattered points in Germany.

Their job—and sometimes each man works 100 hours a week at it—is to guard the yards against looters and stop thefts on long-haul freight trains.

In the yards, shifts of 20 men have hundreds of miles of tracks and thousands of cars to watch. They find railroad employees working hand in glove with looting gangs, emptying American cars and transferring vital supplies to German locomotives.

"The men on the long hauls," said Smith, "have just as tough a job. Suddenly trains will stop. The guards go and ask the engineer why. He gives some excuse. Half an hour later the train moves, but in the meantime, gangs along the roadbed have looted the train."

"Sometimes," added Smith, "the engineers aren't in cahoots. The gangs stick wedges in the signals, jam them and loot one end of the train while the two American guards are at the other end."

"Maybe you can't blame the poor Germans," said Gorman. "They're hungry and they've got families to feed and their wages don't go so far."

"But I've asked the colonel not to transfer me. I don't want these small-time operators. Everybody is an operator in Germany today. It's the big boys I'm after, and even if they threaten to get me, I'm going to stay."

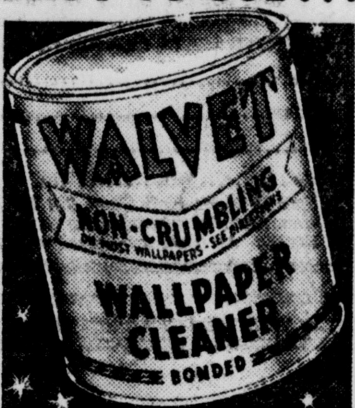

The ideal neckwear for yourself...or for a gift...all-wool fabric...a wide variety of colors in planned patterns to go with the suits you wear. When you tie a "Botany" Brand Wrinkle-Proof Tie, the knot stays in place all day...and wrinkles hang out overnight.

Boyle's COLUMN

BY HAL BOYLE

NASSAU, Bahamas—A flight of wealth from more disturbed lands may bring this colorful sea-airt British archipelago—long a playground of the rich—its fourth flood tide of prosperity since Christopher Columbus landed in 1492.

Columbus, the first disappointed tourist, came seeking gold. In the centuries since then the leisurely Bahamians have convinced later wayfarers they should bring their own gold if they wanted any fun.

First privileged class to enjoy this blue and coral paradise were the pirates, including the notorious Blackbeard. He impressed the happy natives less with his bloodthirsty executions than by his genial habit of tying sulphur matches into his tremendous beard and setting them afire.

Prosperity came again during the blockade running days of the American Civil war, when the desperate South sent over its cotton and household treasures in exchange for guns and ammunition. This trade enabled British colonial officers to build most of the government buildings still standing in Nassau.

Profits garnered during the prohibition era, when statewide rum runners found ample supplies of Scotch and rum, supplied the funds for the island's fine roads.

On local liquor dealer made so much money—the activities were all legal on the British side—he built a fine 35-room steel-anchored mansion on a ridge overlooking the sea. "Him and his wife lived alone in dat big house," said a native taxi driver. "Him on one side—her on d' udder."

The biggest boom came during the war, when Nassau was a great airbase, and local employers still complain of the effect high wages had on the native population.

"It ruined their character," one said. "They don't want to go back to the old standards—and that's all the island will support."

Native women are less choosy than the men. Winter residents can hire a maid for $4 a week—"with basket." The "with basket" clause means she has the right to tote food leftovers home to her own family.

Businessmen now see as their only hope to avoid a slow decline the influx of foreign capital by investors attracted by the climate and the colony's freedom from income tax.

"This year an unusual number of people came from the United Kingdom," one business man said, "a lot of English people are investing here, and we've had more lords and ladies than you could shake a forchette at. These people are convinced the Bahamas have a good future."

In any event the food and weather are better than in England. There are unofficial reports that the British labor government is considering action to halt the flow of cash here from the financially beleaguered home islands. Bahamians have resisted all pressure from Britain to help in this program by adopting stiff local income taxes.

"We need investors here, and an income tax will scare them away," is the Bahamian position.

"This has always been a resort for wealthy people, and in normal times we must have them to exist. Our 700 islands are scattered over 70,000 square miles of ocean and aren't suitable for much large-scale agricultural development."

So the Bahamas are back in business as a high-priced tourist market, selling sand and sea, sun and scenery—the enduring gold that Columbus missed.

Housewives Ignoring High Pork Chop Prices

COLUMBUS, March 13—Ohio housewives are snubbing $1-a-pound pork chops.

Here and elsewhere they refused to pay more than 75 cents a pound. Packers likewise turned up their noses at hundredweight quotations of $27-plus for hogs an average drop of $1 from Monday.

Hog pens at the Producers Co-operative livestock association were reported full but business did not approach that of Monday when $28.25 was quoted for the popular 160-260 pound size.

The Columbus Packing co., said people had quit buying pork at "current prices."

It is the arithmetic of folly to suppose that 60,000,000 American producers can carry the burdens of the whole world. Certainly we can supply some food and medicine to alleviate hunger and suffering, but the economic heresy persists, that we can rehabilitate the world.

The Nation Today

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, March 13 — Should the Communist party in this country be outlawed by congress?

Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach says it should be. Rep. Hartley, New Jersey Republican, says he'll introduce a bill in congress to do it.

Before any such bill was voted into law in congress we'd probably see one of the greatest debates in our history.

Such a step would raise a lot of questions, particularly that of freedom of speech and assembly, both guaranteed by the Constitution. The number of Communist party members in this country is said to be no more than 100,000.

But they're probably the most active, and maybe the most effective, 100,000 people in this country.

All are pledged to party obedience. All are disciplined. They know what they want and they work for it together.

J. Edgar Hoover, FBI boss, said last September:

"The fact that the communist party in the United States claims some 100,000 members has lulled many Americans into a feeling of false complacency. I would not be concerned if we were dealing with only 100,000 Communists."

"The Communists themselves boast that for every party member there are ten others ready to do the party's work. These include their satellites, their fellow travelers, and their so-called Progressive and phony liberal allies."

"They have maneuvered themselves into positions where a few Communists control the destinies of hundreds who are either willing to be led or have been duped into obeying the dictates of others."

Would a law banning the Communist party crush it or merely drive the Communists underground where they'd be harder to find and watch?

Why does Schwelienbach want the party outlawed? He says the purpose of the Communists is to overthrow the present government.

The party constitution doesn't say that. Its preamble says:

"The communist party—upholds the achievements of democracy, the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness (which are guaranteed under the present U. S. Constitution) and defends the United States Constitution against its reactionary enemies who would destroy democracy and all popular liberties."

But Rep. Kersten, Wisconsin republican, backs up Schwelienbach and says the Communists in this country want to destroy "our government" and their weapons are "duplicité, lies and secret methods."

What of force and violence? The only place they're mentioned in the party constitution—and then as something not to be tolerated—is in article 9, section 5, which says:

Party members found to be strike-breakers, degenerates, habitual drunkards, betrayers of party confidence, provocateurs, persons who practice or advocate terrorism, sabotage, espionage, and force and violence, or members whose actions are otherwise detrimental to the party and the working class, shall be summarily dismissed from positions of responsibility, expelled from the party and exposed before the general public."

To all of which Communists' critics say "baloney."

But in 1943 the U. S. Supreme court had to decide whether a Communist, William Schneiderman, should be deprived of his American citizenship because he was a party member when he became a citizen 12 years before.

(He had been born in Russia and was defended by Wendell Wilkie.) The court decided he should be allowed to keep his citizenship.

Missing Link Still a Mystery

"Missy," cocker spaniel owned by L. L. Hill, San Louis Obispo, Calif., gave birth to six pups. Two days later one of them died. "Missy," according to Hill, deserted her litter several nights later only to return the next morning with a replacement, the new-born white rabbit seen above. But it's still a mystery to Hill where "Missy" found the rabbit, since none of the neighbors raise them.

Lifetime Cheese

An old custom in some Alpine regions calls for the making of cheese on the day a child is born. On special occasions in the life of the individual, portions of the cheese are eaten, with the final piece being saved for his funeral.

No Native Animals

The Philippines have no large native animals, since they have never been a part of the Asiatic mainland, as have Sumatra, Borneo, and Java, which became populated with large mainland mammals before being isolated as islands.

DEPT. OF BEST WISHES

Coach Johnny Cabas of Columbiana today has good reason for "crying the blues."

With the Columbiana-Springfield Township regional Class B tournament game set for 7:45 tonight at Kent, Cabas has three of his starting five on the sick or "just recovering" list.

Star Lee Thomas was taken abed Tuesday night with the flu and a severe temperature. He was under penicillin treatment all day Wednesday and looked like a sure absentee today.

Just Monday Dick Perkins and Don Esenwein were still down from the effects of the flu and hadn't been able to take part in practice sessions, but it is expected both will be available tonight, at least for limited action.

SCARCITY DEPARTMENT

Getting a seat for a sporting event has been a chore all this season, and now Fred Cope, faculty manager for Salem High, is encountering trouble securing seats—the permanent kind.

Instructed by the High school athletic council to try to purchase extra bleacher seats for the north end of Reilly stadium so far the best deal Cope can find promises bleachers somewhere "within 15 to 18 months."

That, of course, isn't going to help the seating problem in 1947.

ODDS AND ENDS

Conches Bob Miller and Frank Tarr of Salem High are planning to attend the Class A and B finals at Columbus next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Joe Kelley's Little City tournament will not be held in the High school as the bleachers have been dismantled there. It will be held as usual, however. There are 104 teams playing 103 games, competing in the 20th annual Sebring All-Ohio independent tournament. High school athletes are eligible for further competition this year if they participate in an independent tournament.

Softball talk has it that Jim Primm, previously rumored as a retired player after more than 20 years, may be in the ranks again this year. Wink Miller of the Rec is definitely off the list this year.

Farm Labor Importation Given Senate Approval

WASHINGTON, March 13—Legislation to extend the farm labor program for six months beyond June 30 was approved today by an 8-3 vote of the senate agriculture committee.

The bill already has passed the house.

The bill provides for continuation of the importation of farm workers from Mexico, Jamaica and other areas to aid in planting and harvesting various crops.

CAPTAIN EASY

Bob Pager May Be Highest Scorer In Salem High Book

Bob Pager, named on the All-Ohio second team, may or may not be the highest man in total points for a Salem High season, tournament included.

Malcolm Rush in 1927 scored 313 in 25 scholastic games, but records on the Salem-Lisbon game in the middle of that season are not shown in The News files.

If Rush scored more than nine points in that Lisbon game, his total for the 26-game season—including seven tourney games—would be 323 or more. Pager rolled up 322 points in 19 games, including two tourney tries, which unquestionably is the highest average per game of any Salem player.

Rush's previous competitor was Walt Brian of the 1945 team, who scored 315 points in 21 games, including two tournament tries, for an average of 15 points per game.

Pager's average is 16.9 points per game. He scored 226 in the 1945-46 season, including tournaments.

Under Ohio Skies AS TOLD BY THE CONSERVATION DIVISION

STATE-WIDE FLU EPIDEMIC HAVING EFFECTS ON SCHOLASTIC QUINTETS AS REGIONAL GAME TIMES APPEAR

BY FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, March 13—Tournament tid-bits, or this and that about the Ohio High school basketball boys:

Influenza may play an important role in the regional tournaments getting under way tonight, in which 16 Class A and 16 Class B teams will battle for next weekend's state finals berths.

Unbeaten Class B Frazeyburg reported it had four germ-laden athletes who might not be able to play; Class A Canton Township reported its starting forwards, Ed Palmer and Mervin Hill, were abed with the same illness; Findlay's Coach Carl Bachman and three varsity members were ill at home with flu, and Barberton's star guard, Harold Naragon, was nursing a badly-sprained wrist.

And down Columbiana way, Coach

John Cabas reports three men, Lee Thomas, Don Esenwein and Dick Perkins touched with the flu. At least Perkins and Esenwein, however, are expected at Kent tonight.

The regionals start tonight with Class B contests at three spots, the remaining Class B and four Class A tournaments getting under way tomorrow.

Tonight's Games:

At Kent: Springfield Township 26-4 vs Columbiana 21-1; Strasburg 29-1 vs Lowellville 21-4.

At Bowling Green: New Knoxville 18-2 vs Holgate 22-1; Gibsonburg 21-4 vs Troy-Luckey 24-1.

At Springfield: Bradford 19-8 vs Plain City 23-1.

Plain City, despite its fine record, isn't regarded as a top heavy favorite over the oft-beaten Bradford squad.

Five New Indian Veterans Are Exuberant Over Tribe

It has long been axiomatic in baseball that a player benefits by a change of scenery. But exactly how much depends entirely on the individual concerned and the circumstances surrounding the transfer.

Of the 29 new faces on the 1947 Indian spring training roster, five saw considerable action with other major league clubs last summer.

Joe Gordon and Al Gettel were with the Yankees, Al Lopez was with Pittsburgh, Johnny Rucker with the Giants and Hal Peck with the Athletics and Yankees.

And yet all of the five, with one accord, have the spark of new rookies as they hustle through their training chores in preparation for the opportunity ahead.

There is no sign of disappointment but rather a strongly expressed anticipation on the part of each of the five as they don Tribe uniforms for the first time—an anticipation and eagerness that seems to have infected the entire squad. Never in Indian history has the morale been higher nor the desire for perfection greater. And it can be traced directly to the example set by these veterans.

There is a snap in the drills that has led Manager Lou Boudreau and Coach Bill McKechnie to view the coming pennant race with justifiable optimism. Both are convinced, after two weeks of workouts, that the Indians will be a definite factor in the 1947 campaign.

"It'll be a five team race," said Boudreau, "and we have as good a chance as anyone if we can avoid injuries to key players."

Some of the players go even farther than that. Joe Gordon can't see where any club is better than the Tribe and openly stated that the Indians have enough to win the pennant. Ken Keltner, happier and spryer than ever, likes the outlook while Bill McKechnie has boosted Tribe stock considerably by his expert and optimistic appraisal of the pitching prospects.

The following quotes from the five new veterans should leave no doubt as to their feelings and intentions to make this a Cleveland year.

JOE GORDON: "You can say it again. I'm glad to get away from the Yankees and that MacPhail. This is a new lease on life. I'm in shape and I'll be giving all I've got, and more than that against the Yankees."

AL GETTEL: "They wouldn't let me throw a knuckle ball and they didn't have any confidence in me at New York. Brother, I can hardly wait to get a crack at the Yankees. This is a great place to train. I feel swell."

AL LOPEZ: "I've always wanted to have a year or two in the American League before calling it quits. And this is that chance. The Indians are a fine bunch and, believe me, it's a pleasure to be with them. I'm looking forward to catching Bobby Feller for the first time."

JOHNNY RUCKER: "I've been looking forward to this spring training with the same anticipation I had when I first came up to a major league camp. I'm tickled pink to have this chance with the Indians and I certainly hope I'll be able to help them. You can bet I'll be in there giving all I've got."

HAL PECK: "There is no one in baseball that I admire and like as much as Bill Veeck. He has always been wonderful to me and I've been lucky when playing for him. I feel great and only hope I can play up to those two pretty fair years I had with Bill at Milwaukee. That arm trouble I had with the Athletics was corrected by an operation last summer and I think I'm ready now. I couldn't be happier and that is an important part of success in this game."

Training Camp Notes

Notes from baseball training camps:

BALBOA, C. Z.—Manager Leo Durocher declared he plans to shift Jackie Robinson from second to first base. The Brooks manager feels that the post is Robinson's best chance of making the team.

LOS ANGELES—After watching Bill Nicholson pole a 370-foot homer against Los Angeles yesterday, Manager Charlie Grimm of the Chicago Cubs exuded, "he's taking that free-wheeling cut at the ball again. He's following right on through."

LOS ANGELES—Earl Harriett, rookie Chicago White Sox right-hander, is working on a finger-pitch, actually a variation of the so-called knuckle-ball dippy-do. Manager Ted Lyons used to toss. The difference is that Harriett holds the ball with two finger tips whereas Lyons used three.

ORLANDO, Fla.—Owner Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators is retaining Earl Wooten, fleet outfielder from Chattanooga as a utility first baseman. Rookie outfielder John Netcher is being farmed to Chattanooga.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Hal Newhouse, Detroit's ace left-hander, is slated for his initial exhibition mound appearance today when the Tigers clash with Cincinnati.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla.—Shortstop S-bby Sisti, American association batting champion, was used in center field yesterday, when the Boston Braves played the St. Louis Browns, which precipitated two rumors.

One was that Dick Culler, the Tribe's 1946 shortstop has clinched his old job, the second that Johnny Hopp might be up for a trade with the St. Louis Cardinals or the Brooklyn Dodgers the potential buyers. Neither rumor could be confirmed.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Southpaws Earl Johnson and Mickey Harris will probably hurl for the Boston Red Sox against the Philadelphia Phillies today.

Ted Williams, still seeking his first hit of the season, might play. CLEARWATER, Fla.—Manager Ben Chapman of the Phils said after the 13-1 lacing at the hands of Detroit leaguers is over, Chapman likes the work of pitchers Charley Schanz, Blix Donnelly, Ford Mullen and Ralph Lapointe.

MIAMI, Fla.—Hurriers Everett Fagan, Carl Schieb and Carl McIrvine are expected to pitch for the Athletics against the St. Louis Browns today. Fermin Guerra, Cuban catcher obtained from Washington still hasn't reported.

MIAMI, Fla.—The Browns were singing the praises of Rookie First Sacker Jerry Witte who belted a homer, double and single yesterday against the Braves.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The World Champion St. Louis Cardinals open their long exhibition schedule today against the New York Yankees at the new Al Lang field.

TUCSON, Ariz., March 13—The clowning of Max Paskin, Cleveland Indians' coach and funny-man, no longer will be permitted during games, Manager Lou Boudreau said today.

take the players' minds off the game.

Boudreau came up with a score arm yesterday but he had a capable replacement at shortstop in Jack Cnway, who belted four singles and a double as the Indians thumped the New York Giants 12 to 7 in an exhibition game. The triumph gave the Redskins a 3 to 2 edge in the series.

Edwards Dislocates Shoulder In Game

(By Associated Press)

TUCSON, Ariz., March 13—The Cleveland Indians will start the 1947 season without the services of Outfielder Hank Edwards, the only Tribesman who hit in the 300 bracket last year.

The Norwalk redhead dislocated a bone in his right arm and also received pulled muscles when he fell heavily while lunging for a pop double stroked by Willard Marshall in yesterday's exhibition with the New York Giants. The Giants won 8-3.

Edwards probably will be out for Mass. 5.

six weeks. His loss probably will force Bill Veeck to hasten his efforts to obtain another established outfielder.

The Giants also sustained a serious loss. Larry Jansen, a promising hurler who won 31 games for San Francisco last year, was struck on the left cheek by a line drive off Bob Feller's bat. His injuries were diagnosed as a malar bone fracture, contraction of the pupil in the left eye and a possible skull fracture. He probably will be out for at least two months.

OAKLAND, Calif.—Earl Turner, 147, Richmond, Calif., outpointed Jackie Wilson, 147, Los Angeles, 12. New York-(Jamaica arena)-Tony Labia, 135, New York, knocked out Corky Davis, 137½, Worcester.

Editor Dies in Fall

NEW YORK, March 13—Edwin P. Flynn, 41, executive editor of the New York Post and the Bronx Home News, died early today in a plunge from a window of his eighth floor apartment during a fire there.

"I'm trapped, I'm going to jump," Flynn was heard to call before he plunged from a kitchen window of the smoke-filled apartment.

In his last message to Congress on Dec. 7, 1936, Washington recommended the use of public funds to aid agriculture.

Good beef is scarce! We quote from our buyer in Kansas City: "Stock cattle are barred from old Mexico for this year, and perhaps forever. Fleishy cattle coming off the wheat pasture have been sold to the packers, where formerly they went into the feed lot for a finish feed. The dairy herd which contributed about 40 percent of the beef consumed in this country has dwindled down to a very low point."

That is the reason we have our own farm to put that finish on which so few cattle get. Also we have no dairy stock in our feed lot, only yearling steers. As in the past, it will be very convenient to be a steady customer of a shop which has good meat in times of shortages, as well as in times of plenty!
